They say this cut the spread of MRSA, which is antibiotic resistant, and other illnesses by over half and saved lives.

The strong scientific evidence gave inventor Doug Cornell an idea. He made a smooth copper probe with a tip to fit in the bottom of his nose. The next time he felt a tickle in his nostril that warned of a cold about to start, he rubbed the copper gently in his nose for 60 seconds. “The cold never got going,” he exclaimed. That was in 2012. He says he has not had a cold since. “We don’t make product health claims,” he said, “so I can’t say cause and effect. But we know copper is antimicrobial.”

He asked relatives and friends to try it. They reported the same thing, so he patented CopperZap® and put it on the market. Soon hundreds of people had tried it. The feedback was 99% positive if they used the copper within 3 hours after the first sign of unwanted germs, like a tickle in the nose or a scratchy throat.

Early user Mary Pickrell said, “I can’t believe how good my nose feels.”

“What a wonderful thing!” exclaimed Physician’s Assistant Julie. Another customer asked, “Is it supposed to work that fast?”

Pat McAllister, 70, received one for Christmas and called it “one of the best presents ever. This little jewel really works.”

Scientists have discovered a natural way to kill germs fast. Now thousands of people are using it against unwanted viruses and bacteria in the nose and on skin. Germs, such as viruses and bacteria, can multiply fast. When unwanted germs get in your nose they can spread and cause misery unless you stop them early.

In the last 20 years, hundreds of studies by government and university scientists show the natural element copper kills germs just by touch. The EPA officially declared copper to be “antimicrobial”, which means it kills microbes, including viruses, bacteria, and fungus.

The National Institutes of Health says, “The antimicrobial activity of copper is now well established.” Copper’s power to kill germs has been used for thousands of years. Ancient Greeks and Egyptians used copper to purify water and heal wounds. They didn’t know about microbes, but now we do.

Scientists say the high conductance of copper disrupts the electrical balance in a microbe cell by touch and destroys it in seconds. Some hospitals tried copper for touch surfaces like faucets and doorknobs.

crowded flights. Though skeptical, she tried copper on travel days for 2 months. "Sixteen flights and not a sniffle!" she exclaimed.

Businesswoman Rosaleen says when people around her show signs of unwanted germs, she uses copper morning and night. "It saved me last holidays," she said. "The kids had the crud going round and round, but not me."

Attorney Donna Blight tried copper for her sinus. "I am shocked!" she said. "My head cleared, no more headache, no more congestion."

A man with trouble breathing though his nose at night tried copper just before bed. "Best sleep I've had in years!" he said.

In a lab test, technicians placed 25 million live flu viruses on a CopperZap. No viruses were found alive soon after.

Some people press copper on a lip right away if a warning tingle suggests unwanted germs gathering there.

The handle is curved and textured to increase contact. Copper can kill germs picked up on fingers and hands after you touch things other people have touched.
