Editor's Corner

Well, Happy 250th Independence Day! By any country's milestones, that's a lot of years. When you get past the parades and fireworks, take a moment to read the TWO articles on our country's ideals and hopes for the future. Enjoy our Montana summer, which is always memorable. We are grateful for our freedoms.

There are more "twofers" in this issue—two writers, by coincidence, covering similar topics. Intuition comes up twice, by both Susan Harrow (in her coaching practice), and several stories by Catherine Nelson, Ph.D. urging us to pause and listen to that "still, small voice." Let's up that one more with THREE articles on various, new, scientifically-proven, bio-electric testing and healing modalities. I'll let Crystal Maceira, Brett Tudsbury, and Ian McAllister explain these to you in depth...

Microplastics are the unexpected bane of our modern conveniences—truly a pollution problem of global implications. There's extensive coverage on it here, with a few hopeful notes added in—some bright teenagers from India have invented a water filtering method, and there are a few suggestions for detoxing your body from these extremely tiny invaders.

My wife offers an unusual herb in two recipes—that lawn and garden pest, the dandelion! And in today's booming real-state market, Michele Lewis advises on what to consider when buying an older home.

Have you heard of Thermography? It's a less invasive way for women to get their breasts examined for early cancer detection (with other uses, too). Connie Bargen's Thermography Center of Montana might be cycling around to a city near you. Also, Tamasin Sterner offers detoxing herbs known to have helped many people with their journey through cancer.

There's much MORE here, so take a look and... —ENJOY!
